Shin Yeh Taiwanese Cuisine

Complimentary seasonal sweet soup

Traditional Taiwanese Taste as a Modern Cuisine

Shin Yeh Taiwanese Cuisine got its start in 1977 in Taipei on Shuangcheng Street and was the founding brand of the restaurant group. The natural terrain of Taiwan, being a mountainous island, provides food ingredients that are incredibly flavorful, juicy, and fresh.

Shin Yeh features the natural flavors as it composes masterpiece delicacies. When local people taste what they grew up eating, their childhood memories spring to life. In addition to small, cold side-dishes, specialty rice porridges and many home-style flavors from the street transformed into restaurant dishes, there are now Shin Yeh signature must-taste dishes such as Fried Pork Liver, Braised Pork, Dried Radish Omelette, Steamed Crab with Glutinous Rice, and after-dinner Almond Tofu, Almond Tea, and other classic Taiwanese dishes.

Over the past 40 years, Shin Yeh has grown alongside the people of Taiwan and relentlessly exerted itself in Taiwanese cuisine. It has become not only what overseas Chinese miss deeply, but also the preferred restaurant for our foreign friends visiting Taiwan.

The New Taste Trend in Taiwanese

Shin Yeh's Shiao Ju brand was launched in 2013. We offer the young generation a mealplace for small gatherings, with Taiwanese cuisine in an atmosphere that is relaxed and trendy. Shiao Ju chefs have been in kitchens cooking Taiwanese since they were young apprentices, so they have a deep understanding of this food. The skill and technology are first-rate. Their food creations come from daily life moments of inspiration. Expressed through different sauces and techniques, the modern flavors are both traditionally authentic and creative. For example, the traditional dish of braised pork feet becomes 3 cups (of special sauces) Q (Chewy) Pig's Feet. And the Mandarin name for Preserved Egg with Green Pepper, "Ching Long Pipi Tswah" is a borrowed sound-alike of the true name in Taiwanese. A standard favorite is "Spicy Hot and Sour Soup with Rice Crackers".and special "Handmade Caramel Pudding". By design, the cuisine selection, matching of dishes, tastes and budget are all part of the experience our guests will enjoy. Friends or even three cross-generations of family can share a good time and smiles as they dine in a relaxed and comfortable environment!

Du Hsiao Yueh

Complimentary dessert upon purchase

The origin of Du Hsiao Yueh dates back to 1895. During the Guangxu period, our ancestors were engaged in fishing in the sea area from Haicheng, Fujian to Fucheng, Tainan. Every year from Qingming Festival to Mid-Autumn Festival, there was a risk of capsizing the ferry, so business was slow, so it was commonly known as Hsiao Yueh. When the moon was over, Hung Taro set up a noodle stall. Fortunately, he learned the cooking techniques from famous masters and became Danzi noodles with a special flavor. During the Japanese colonial period, he sold them in front of the Narcissus Palace. "Du Hsiao Yueh" was hung in front of the noodle stall, so Du Hsiao Yueh began to be equated with Danzi Noodles, and it is also one of the most famous traditional delicacies in Tainan Fucheng.

KUAICHE

Enjoy 5% off

KUAICHE originated from Taipei's Nanmen market, providing affordable and high-quality Taiwanese specialty delicacies. The 4-decade old shop has stood the test of time and inherited the most memorable Taiwanese tastes and flavors.

The almond-flavored crisp jerky that is only 0.01 cm thick and the signature 1cm thick pork jerky are marinated in 180-day old traditional soy sauce based on recipe handed down the generations. Roasted at high temperature after vacuum massage, the jerky's thickness, wellness and color are all part of the consideration, so cooking it to perfection has become a specialized technique. This definitely makes for a present for friends and relatives.

Kuo Yuan Ye

郭元益 KUO YUAN YE
1867

Enjoy 5% off

In 1708, ancestors of the Kuo family left their native home in China's Fujian, crossed the Taiwan Strait, and arrived in Shilin, Taipei. In 1867, Kuo, Liang-chen carried on a shoulder pole with two baskets of pastries to sell throughout Shilin Market, to build the foundation of Kuo Yuan Ye. From a small shop with no signboard, Kuo Yuan Ye has grown to become renowned centenary brand. Today Kuo Yuan Ye is not only Taiwan's most historic pastry shop, but also the symbol of Taiwanese pastry culture.

E G SAIN

Complimentary gift

For more than 46 years since its founding, e.g-sain Honey Cake has insisted on using natural longan nectar, natural trehalose and high-quality fresh eggs! Adopting the labor-consuming and time-consuming "fine fire baking method" and adhering to the "original food spirit", Never add a drop of oil or preservatives, and carefully make every piece of sincere and delicious food that you and I are familiar with.

We will continue to cherish our customers and love Taiwan every day in the future, and continue to improve ourselves and grow. Work hard to be better than yesterday every day. Regardless of the past, present and future, as long as all the beautiful moments are about you, I hope that e.g-sain can present you with this taste of happiness.

So leave your happiness to e.g-sain, e.g-sain only exists for beautiful moments!
